Definition:
- Worker’s Group Living Quarters include facilities such as dormitories, bunkhouses, and similar types of group living arrangements for agricultural and non-agricultural workers. Examples include migratory farm worker camps, construction worker camps, Job Corps centers, federal/state law enforcement academies, fire academies, and vocational training facilities.
- This category also includes facilities that provide a full-time, year-round residential program offering a vocational training and employment program that helps young people 16-to-24 years old learn a trade, earn a high school diploma or GED and get help finding a job.

Residency Criteria:
- Live-in employees are counted where they live and sleep most of the time.
- People in Worker’s Quarters are counted where they live and sleep most of the time. Residents and staff who do not have a usual home elsewhere are counted at the facility.

2. HOW will my facility be counted?

1. Drop Off/Pick Up
2. eResponse (Electronic Response Data Transfer)
3. In-Person Interview
4. Paper Response Data Collection (Paper Listings)

3. WHAT can I do to help?

- Identify
  Special instructions and unique needs of worker’s GQs in your community and share this information with Census staff.

- Coordinate
  Work with Census Bureau staff to ensure receipt of the most updated list of worker’s GQs and their Points-of-Contact.

- Invite
  Census Staff to your meetings to present updates.

- Identify
  Worker’s Group Quarters and share this information using the GQ & TL Add Template.

- Recruit
  Help the Census Bureau recruit staff who have worked with this population.

- Inform
  Those living in worker’s GQs when/how they will be counted and explain why an accurate Census count is important.
